Article 1

A public selection is hereby announced, by means of a comparative assessment, to recruit a fixed-term researcher pursuant to art. 24 clause 3 letter a) of Law n. 240 of 30.12.2010, based on the following specifications:

Department of Mathematics, Computer Science and Physics Competition sector: 01/B1 Informatics

Code: DIMA2

Profile: Scientific-disciplinary sector INF/01 Informatics

Duration of contract: three years, extendible for two years only and once only, conditional on the finding of suitable funding in the future to cover the other two years and a positive assessment of the didactic activities and research carried out

Conditions: full time, with 350 hours for didactic activities, additional didactics and services to students

Research Project:

Study and development of artificial vision algorithms for Unmanned Aerial Vehicles with the aim to propose advanced technologies for environmental sustainability, and for the prevention, monitoring and management of natural disasters

Autonomous flying systems, i.e., Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (UAVs), represent a hot topic within the research community. In particular, the community is currently aiming to study and develop algorithms to guarantee autonomous flying capabilities and autonomous task operations. Existing market solutions are not embodied with such features, in particular, the available systems do not come with autonomous flying control solutions that are specifically designed for monitoring of large environments for the purposes of environmental sustainability, prevention, monitoring and management of natural disasters.

The project aims to fill such a gap by developing a system capable of autonomously acquiring visual data from wide areas, like an extra-urban environment. The solution should also be able to autonomously detect and signal possible environmental-risky situations. The proposed approach should include innovative algorithms that have to cover the following open problems:

- establish the altitude and velocity of the aerial vehicle in order to optimize the data acquisition process;
- build, in real-time, a geo-referenced mosaic with high-quality images of the area of interest;
- develop new machine learning solutions for the real-time detection of environmental anomalous situations by exploitation of mosaics of images and videos.

Duration of the research programme: 3 years

Professor responsible: Prof. Gian Luca Foresti, University Full Professor at the University of Udine – competitive sector 01/B1 – scientific-disciplinary sector INF/01

Specific functions and objectives allocated:

The researcher should carry out research related to scientific-disciplinary sector INF/01 – Informatics and to the topics proposed within the course in Multimedia Communication and Information Technology, like the problems of multisensory data analysis, virtual and augmented reality, as well as pattern analysis in computer vision. The researcher might also collaborate with colleagues on different interdisciplinary projects. The research objectives include publications on international journals, participation in congresses, symposia and international and national workshops, contributing to the organization of conferences, involvement in scientific collaborations with international and national institutions and entities on topics defined by the program.

Didactic activities, additional didactics and services to students:

The researcher will carry out 60 hours of teaching activities per year within the subjects included in the scientific-disciplinary sector INF/01 of the course in Multimedia Communication and Information Technology. The teaching activity could also include seminar activities within the current courses and the supervision of students during the Thesis.

Workplace:

The activities will be carried out at the Centro Polifunzionale di Pordenone in accordance with the Department of Mathematics, Computer Science and Physics of the University of Udine. The researcher could also carry out the activities within other institutes to better answer to the research projects needs.

Maximum number of publications to be presented: twelve
